

Employers' Liability, Public Liability and Product Liability

If you have employees then it is a legal requirement that your business must purchase employers' liability. It is advisable that your company also protects itself from potential claims from the public and other third parties, as well as protecting any products you manufacture or store. We work with you to understand your potential liabilities and risks to create insurance solutions that keep you protected.

We have years of experience in providing liability covers for a range of different scenarios. Our public liability insurance provides cover against claims made by members of the public who have sustained injuries or damage as a result of your business. Our employer's liability insurance, which is a legal requirement for nearly every business that employs at least one person, offers protection if an employee is injured or becomes ill as a result of the work they do for you and sues for compensation - and it also covers any legal fees you have to pay. Finally, our product liability insurance is designed to protect against claims for injury or damage from a product sold by your business.

What's typically covered?

- ✓ Injury and illness, as well as death, for employees and third parties
