

Environmental Impairment Liability

Any incident that has a significant impact on the environment can be damaging for your business, both financially and reputationally. Environmental Impairment Liability provides cover against pollution of you own and third-party land.

It covers claims for property damage, injury and costs that have been caused by pollution, as well as reputational protection. We have years of experience arranging this type of cover and we help our clients with a proactive risk management approach that looks to mitigate the possibility of incidents ever occurring in the first instance.
